

(Mobile library) Cats in Paris: A Magical Coloring Book

Cats in Paris: A Magical Coloring Book

Won-Sun Jang

DOC | *audiobook | ebooks | Download PDF | ePub

Download

Read Online

#419909 in Books Random House 2016-01-26 2016-01-26 Original language: English PDF # 1 9.83 x .37 x 9.901, .81 #File Name: 039957827780 pages Cats in Paris A Magical Coloring Book | File size: 54.Mb

Won-Sun Jang : Cats in Paris: A Magical Coloring Book before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Cats in Paris: A Magical Coloring Book:

48 of 50 people found the following review helpful. Cute Cat Designs printed on both sides of heavyweight non-perforated paper By iiiireader[[VIDEOID:d5bc83866d918e40dcafeec70afd0fb6]] This is a cute coloring book of cat designs, especially the first few pages which show a short hair cat venturing on his vacation to Paris. The beautiful design that is on the cover of this book is definitely included inside. Every page has something fun to color even the ones that I would categorize as wall-paper make me want to reach for my pens and pencils and get started. After the first few pages, the book evolves into a very well done book of cats in various poses and situations. I know many of the situations all too well from my years of having cats as pets. I like that there are both intricately drawn cats as well as what amounts to line drawings of cats. The former gives me a challenge in coloring in small spaces and the latter gives me opportunities to test my blending skills to create what I want of the cat. My one major issue with the book is that it is supposed to be about cats in Paris and there are only a few pictures that can be categorized as such. The book has a removable dust cover. Both the inside of the dustcover and the actual attached cover have some fun coloring opportunities. The designs in the book are printed on both sides of the great heavyweight non-perforated paper. Designs run into the binding and many of the designs spread across two pages. In my copy, the pages line up very well. The binding is a hybrid of sewn and glued actually the binding I dislike most of all impossible to snip the threads but so many that when you push the book down hard, the threads seems to pull at the page. You simply have to cut the pages if you want to remove them and given the layout of the designs, you will lose portions of them if you take them out of the book. I am able to get the lay flat and will color the pages in the book because of the extent of coloring medium I can use. My alcohol-based markers were the only coloring medium that bled through the page. All makes, sizes, and brands. My water-based markers of all types and sizes, my India ink artist pens, and my gel pens did not leak through or leave any shadows. The gel pens did not need extra drying time. I did notice that both the smallest nib gel pens and my hard pencils could leave an indent if I was a bit heavy-handed in my coloring something to think about when you go to color in this book. My coloring pencils worked fantastic, especially the soft lead that went on thick and creamy and blended well. My decision is to not use alcohol-based markers with this book. There are so many other choices, I don't need to. If you do use them, be aware that the ink will leak through and not only ruin the back of the page but could leak through further into the book. In the comments area below, I will provide a list of the coloring medium I used in testing this book. 40 of 43 people found the following review helpful. Buyer beware! By CustomerThe cats are in Paris for only 14 not very coloring friendly pages. Buyer beware! This is a real "Gotcha" item. I've learned my lesson. It just isn't safe to pre-order coloring books. The remaining 62 pages are a mixed bag of different styles that would probably be more suitable for children. The last few images of "stamps" are really poor. While the cover may be beautiful, the interior images just seem slapped together. A good example being the picture of a "sailor" cat with a folded newspaper hat, over-sized glasses, and a striped shirt with an anchor on it. The opposite page has the exact same image, but with the anchor turned upside down. It's such a shame. I think that the idea of "Cats in Paris" would have made for a fantastic and imaginative coloring book. 6 of 6 people found the following review helpful. What happened to the Paris part? By fruity gal I was highly disappointed! Out of the 28 double page spreads, only 5 or 6 have anything to do with Paris. I really like those few. It was what I expected when I ordered it, but out of the rest of the book, there are only 2 or 3 that I like. I could really do without the rest of it, so . . . if you are expecting the book to have scenes from Paris throughout, you too, will be disappointed; and at a premium price.

This gorgeously illustrated adult coloring book draws readers into the secret world of cats in Paris as they explore the city's most famous (and feline-friendly) spots. Say bonjour to the cats of Paris as they slink through its fabled streets and alleyways, from Montmartre to the Shakespeare and Company bookshop and into a feline-filled land of playful imagination. Featuring intricate pen-and-ink drawings of tabbies, Persians, Siamese, and more, this evocative coloring books frisky kitties lie in wait for your colorful stylings.

About the Author Won-Sun Jang is an award-winning Korean illustrator whose work has appeared in Vogue Korea, Elle Korea, Bazaar Korea, and InStyle Korea, and clients include MAC Cosmetics and Clinique. Winner of the Childrens Books Illustration Award from Kemongsa Publishers, she currently works as a package designer in Seoul, Korea. Since meeting Eva the Norwegian Forest Cat fourteen years ago she has fallen in love with felines, the inspiration of her first adult coloring book. Excerpt. Reprinted by permission. All rights reserved. Introduction Before I knew it, cats began to find their place in my life. I work from home, and I found myself wanting to share my day with someone. That's when I met my first cat, Eva. After that, cats started to fill my empty spaces. They would stay near me by the desk, beside the table, and under the bed before I went to sleep. Cats seemed to be close by all the time. In order to learn their subtle language, I discovered that patience and observation is key. I was inspired by their smooth and fine movements, their eyes shining with a variety of colors, and their charming communications. The illustrations in this book are proof of such inspiration. At first cats may seem cautious and shy. But they have a surprising charm. They approach you slowly and one day you realize they have taken over your entire life. I hope this book will become as enchanting as cats are. Fill in the blanks using your creativity. The sketches, lines, and patterns in this book leave room for you to express your individuality because a cats charm cannot be expressed in just one way! So, without further ado, I invite you to a magical world of cats as they slink through the streets of Paris and into a realm of imagination.