The popularity of making and furnishing dolls' houses has never been greater, and the elegant and romantic Georgian and Regency architecture is a favourite among enthusiasts. The author of "Making Tudor Dolls' Houses" now turns his attention to this period and shows how to make a dolls' house using lightweight materials, with no special skills or tools required. The designs include various Georgian town houses and country houses and a Regency shop, and details are provided of such features as beams and panelling, fireplaces, railings, chimneys and decoration. The text is accompanied by illustrations depicting the construction methods and finishing touches.
